

With its own factory and quarries, PJS has a reputation for quality and reliability that has been widely recognised throughout its existence.

PJS, as well as producing slabs and tiles, has a service for the treatment of specific cases, designs and dimensions, faithfully following the client's project. They can produce anything from standard measures to sculptures, statuary or specific projects.

Exporting more than 70% of its production, PJS is a company essentially dedicated to foreign trade.

As a company with an export outlook and widely known in the market, it was created in 1965 and places great emphasis on quality control of its products.

Rigour, professionalism, longevity and meeting delivery deadlines are some of the terms that characterise PJS.
